THE LOST BATTALION

'A Ceremony of Brotherhood Across Nations'

UNITED IN SACRIFICE

In the darkest days of World War II, American and Australian soldiers forged an unbreakable bond in captivity. Two prisoners of war — separated by oceans but united in sacrifice — exchanged their dog tags as a testament to their brotherhood.

Now, generations later, a descendant of the Australian soldier will travel to Jacksboro, Texas, to return those dog tags to the family of his American comrade — honoring a promise made in the shadow of war.

Join us for this deeply moving ceremony of remembrance, friendship, and gratitude between two great nations.
